

Lunar Libra

In astrology, your Moon is the portal to your subconscious mind & Your Lunar Self. It represents how you emote, get your emotional needs met, your subconscious & authentic self, as well as how you integrate yin energy. Your Moon sign reflects the light of your Sun sign, your life purpose, & tells you how to live out that purpose in the physical realm. It is the reflection of your soul's experience in your body. Knowing your Moon sign can help you take better care of yourself, feed yourself whatever nourishment you may not have received in childhood, & connect to your life purpose.

Your Moon in Libra means you likely find beauty and harmony in all things, and feel most comfortable when surrounded by beautiful things and harmonious relationships. You likely need to create beauty, bring peace or partake in the pursuit of justice daily to feel secure. You are likely very talented at connecting with others and helping those in need. In a way, you get your needs met by being likeable.

You probably dislike extremes, so when unbalanced, you might be indecisive and avoid conflict by people-pleasing, especially with those you are in partnership with. As a result of being so outwardly focused, you may lose sight of your own emotional needs in relationships, but need close relationships to feel secure and satisfied.

Because your Moon loves beauty and balance, it's important to surround yourself with things you find beautiful. As you may often forget your own needs, it's important to treat yourself the same way you treat those you love. Make sure your daily self-care practices contain some element of self-reflection and affirmation to keep in tune with your own needs and remember to prioritize them. This might mean making time to wear clothes that make you feel beautiful or doing mirror work to remind yourself that you are lovable just the way you are. Spending quality time with people you love is also paramount.
